The National Free Software Commission, in collaboration with Frères Mentouri-Constantine1 University, is organizing a Linux and Free Software School from December 05 to 09, 2026 at Constantine 1 University, intended for doctoral students from all disciplines.

Information

- ☒ There are no prerequisites for participation in this School.
- ☒ The objective is to introduce participants to the philosophy and practice of free software.
- ☒ The methodology is practice-oriented; participants are strongly encouraged to bring their laptops.
- ☒ Space is very limited; registration must be completed via the following link: https://cnll.mesrs.dz/index.php/312226lang=fr

Figure 1: Linux_School

The program focuses on the following areas:

- ☒ Installation and introduction to Linux as an example of free software.
- ☒ Free writing tools.
- ☒ Various tools (email, surveys, etc.).
- ☒ Free development tools (Python, Octave, etc.).
- ☒ Introduction to system and network administration.

Speakers

Aissa Aibeche, Setif 1 University
Sofiane Boukli-Hacene, SBA University
Kamel Kessali, Setif 1 University
Fethallah Tebboune, Saida University
Abderrahmane Yousfate, SBA University
Abdelkader Belahcene, ENSTA, Algiers
Karim Djouani, Paris-Créteil University
Leila Rahmani, Tizi-Ouzou University
Mohamed Lamine Sahari, Annaba University

Contact

For more information, please contact: a.aibeche@mesrs.dz